BY THE GOVERNOR.

A THANKSGIVING PROCLAMATION.

The recurrence of each autumnal season, bringing anew the substantial tokens of Divine favor, reminds us that we should render to Almighty God public acknowledgment of our gratitude for His manifold blessings.

Now, therefore, I, William E. Smith, Governor of the State of Wisconsin, do hereby appoint Thursday, the 24th day of November, instant, as a day of Public Thanksgiving and Prayer. Let the day be observed by the suspension of public and private business, and by the holding of appropriate religious services and social festivities.

In testimony whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the State of Wisconsin to be affixed.

(Great Seal) Done at the City of Madison, this seventh day of November, in the year of our Lord one thousand, eight hundred and eighty-one.

WILLIAM E. SMITH.

By the Governor: HANS E. WARNER, Secretary of State.

There was not a single Prohibition vote cast in the town of Newark, in this county.

The latest returns from the various portions of the State warrant the assurance that the entire Republican State ticket is elected by a plurality of from 5,000 to 6,000.

The rural districts are doing nobly for the Republican ticket in New York, and if the reports are not altogether deceiving, the Republicans have carried the State. The transition from darkness to light in that State is a very pleasing one to the Republicans.

Miss Bessie Reed, of Eau Claire county, was elected school superintendent on the Democratic ticket. The election of Miss Reed may have been all right, but the Republicans in that county did a bad day's work on election day—the Democrats carrying away everything in the county.

William Kuhl, who was arrested in Milwaukee on the supposition that he was Leon Williams, will bring an action against the sheriff of Milwaukee for damage. Under all the circumstances—Kuhl so closely resembling Williams the murderer—there will not be damage awarded him, although the prospects may be fair for expensive litigation.

The next Assembly will not be so largely Republican as it was last session. Last winter there were 79 Republicans in the Assembly, and only 21 Democrats; and in the Senate there were 24 Republicans and only 9 Democrats. Just what the increase will be in the Democratic membership, is not known to a certainty, but it will probably be 10 or 12.

If any one has any doubt concerning the home strength or personal influence of Colonel E. W. Keyes, they may be put right by looking at the majority he received for the Assembly in the Second district of Dane county. In a district which frequently goes Democratic he received a majority of one thousand, the largest majority ever known to have been given in the Capitol Assembly district. The Colonel ought to feel proud of this splendid endorsement.

Dakota will knock at the doors of the next Congress for admission into the Union as a State. In 1880 when the census was taken, the Territory had a population of 134,502, and the immigration since that time will probably swell the population to 175,000, enough to entitle it to the dignity of a State. But the area of Dakota is amazing, and is much too large for a single State. It is now as great as the States of Massachusetts, Connecticut, New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, and Ohio combined!

When Baldwin was charged with robbing the Newark bank of $2,500,000 he was held to bail in the sum of $25,000. When it was found that perjury and forgery were connected with the little transaction the bail was increased to $100,000. Of course Mr. Baldwin considers this an outrage, and feeling himself persecuted, will probably become disgusted with this sort of tyranny and skip to Canada and take a large part of his stolen fortune with him. He has stolen enough to entitle him to a public dinner and a brilliant reception.

No nationality has yet come up to the Americans in inventing new sins and new schemes of swindling. When one trick becomes old and worn out, such as stopping a stranger on the streets of our large cities, and saying with a smiling countenance and in silvery tones—"This is Mr. Jones, of Oshkosh, I believe," or "my friend, can you just cash this check of $100, I am too late for the bank," they resort to other schemes perfectly original, and do a thriving business. No sooner had the insurance of old men to the amount of $100,000 on each life been exposed and cloaked, than a man sprang up in Illinois more ingenious than all the rest of the swindlers. He went into the business, as has been already stated in the Gazette, of forging requisition papers upon the Governor of that State for some imaginary fugitive from justice, and would also forge the returns and appoint himself messenger. He would draw the fees, put the money into his pocket and manufacture one case after another until he collected quite a large sum, and found himself in jail. Next!

We have from Robert Clark & Co., Cincinnati, the "History of the Discovery of the Northwest," by John Nicolet, in 1634, with a sketch of his life by Mr. C. W. Butterfield, of Madison. This brief sketch of the life of Nicolet, a young French explorer of the 17th century, is the simply told narrative of hardship and adventure which, though now well nigh forgotten, has seldom been surpassed. Nicolet was a protégé of the brave Champlain, and was the first white man to embark upon the waters of Lake Michigan, or to look upon the forests of Wisconsin and Illinois. He lived with the Indians, learned their language, and made his long voyages of discovery under their guidance, finally losing his life in the waters of the St. Lawrence, which he was among the first to explore. In spite of its matter of fact style it appeals strongly to the imagination, and if it had fallen in the way, Cooper might have spun a three volume romance out of the wild life and tragic death which are so simply told in this little sketch of less than a hundred pages.

The figures on the vote cast for McFotridge, Republican, for State Treasurer, and Falk, Democratic for the same office, should serve as food for reflection to the Prohibitionists who profess to have so much zeal for temperance. They have gone deliberately at work to aid in the election of a Democrat and one of the largest brewers in Wisconsin, and to defeat a Republican who is one of the most worthy men in the State, and in all things a temperate man. This is a consistency which will make a temperate man blush. It shows how little the Prohibitionists cherished the real temperance cause. They sacrificed a temperance man for one whose business they claim they want to destroy. If any part of the Democratic State ticket is elected, or the Republican majority materially reduced in the Legislature, the Prohibitionists are farther away from success than they ever were before, and prohibition, if that were ever probable in Wisconsin, is indefinitely postponed. The more Democrats there are in the Legislature, and the stronger the hold the Democrats have upon the State government, the more difficult it will be to pass a resolution submitting the prohibition question to the people. If such a condition of things has been brought about as to entirely foreclose on this question, and if it has been strangled and for the time being at least is hopelessly dead, there is no one more responsible for that work than the Prohibitionists. A little cool judgment on the part of the Prohibition leaders, a careful survey of the political field, a display of some little political wisdom, would have made the passage of such a resolution possible, but voting for a separate temperance ticket, which is indirectly voting for the Democratic ticket, means a putting off of the day of temperance salvation.

Cigarette smoking among the boys in large cities is a vice which is rapidly and alarmingly increasing. The cigarettes are cheap, the price bringing them within the reach of every urchin on the streets however poor he may be. It is said that the cigarette manufacturers have increased their facilities one hundred per cent. in the last year, and still the demand is on the increase. It has become so common in New York to find boys from five to ten or twelve years of age smoking cigarettes, that Dr. William A. Hamilton, formerly Surgeon General of the United States, has been called on for an opinion of cigarette smoking from an hygienic point of view. Dr. Hamilton once defended in the North American Review moderate smoking by male adults, and wrote such a popular article that it was as widely read in Europe as in this country. He then declared that moderate smoking of good tobacco was not injurious to adult males, but in most cases "beneficial." He said it lessened the wear and tear of the tissues and made food go further than it otherwise would, and enabled a man to look with calmness and complacency on the every-day trouble of life which otherwise might overcome him. After making investigations and taking observations which extended over both Europe and America, he decided to say that moderate smoking prevented these depressing emotions which, of all things, are calculated to wear a man's life away. But he deprecated the increasing use of cigarettes among thousands of boys not yet in their teens, because smoking by the young is injurious from any standpoint the case can be viewed. Smoking before their bodies are fully formed destroys their nervous systems and renders them liable to neuralgia and various functional diseases of the brain which are certainly calculated to destroy their mental strength. The lungs also become affected, and following this are dyspepsia, sciatica, nervous prostration, mental decay, and other diseases which break down the system and carry one to a premature grave.

The paper cigarettes are more deadly in their effects than the others, and the fatality resulting from the cigarettes wrapped with paper is nearly equal to the deadly conquests the toy pistols made last summer. The paper cigarettes which are usually thrown upon the market are simply vilest in-laid. The question how to stop smoking among the children is one which is now puzzling the doctors, the teachers, the parents, and the moralists of New York. When a lad three years old was found smoking a strong Spanish cigar on Broadway the other day, it amazed the people of that city, and now there is a movement on foot to suppress the alarming vice. Dr.

Hammond was asked what could be done to prevent children from smoking; and he answered that as such a thing was out of the reach of the law, the only hope was home influence and the proper instruction in the schools.

GOOD NEWS.

SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.

MILWAUKEE, NOV. 10.—The Republican majority in this State is 8,000 except on Governor and Treasurer, which is 5,000.

R. L. COLVIN.

WISCONSIN.

The Republican State Ticket Elected by About 6,000 Majority.

MILWAUKEE, WIS., Nov. 9.—This evening the Republican Central committee claim the election of the State ticket by from 6,000 to 7,000 votes. At the same time, the Democratic Central committee claim their ticket is elected by a small majority. The latter are positive that Falk, Democratic candidate for State Treasurer, is elected. Owing to the muddy condition of the country roads, the result in the State will not be definitely known until the close of the week. State Treasurer Guenther estimates the Republicans will have a majority of 8 in the Senate and from 12 to 20 in the House.

MILWAUKEE, NOV. 9.—About one-half of the State heard from a not Democratic majority of about 8,500. The Republican majority, to be overcome on the basis of the figures made, is 25,000, so that the Democratic rate of gain would have to be more than double on the balance of the State to defeat the Republican ticket. To-night the Republicans are very confident, and Secretary Payne, of the Republican State Central committee, claims the State by 7,500. The Democrats still claim the election of Falk, for Treasurer.

Later—Further returns insure the election of the Republican State ticket, and the plurality is estimated at not less than 6,000.

NEW YORK.

From Darkness to Light—The Republicans Claim 12,000 on the State Ticket.

New York, Nov. 9.—At 1 o'clock last night there was a pretty general impression that the State had been captured by the Democracy. Such a result of the election was no surprise to the Republican leaders, and one to the contrary was what they had not confidently counted on. Therefore, the first returns were scarcely a source of disappointment. At 4 o'clock in the morning there was a state of delightful uncertainty, the newspapers presenting all sorts of opinions from hazy doubt to positive assurance that the State had given both Republican and Democratic majorities ranging from 6,000 to 30,000 for both sides. The Times, however, which is careful in its preparation of election returns, insisted that the State had given a Republican majority of at least 6,000. The assertion was correct, but the majority was not double what the Times forecast. That paper has at midnight tonight received special dispatches from fifty-four counties, giving the results of the votes in a most careful manner. These show that the Republican majority is already 11,500, and the remaining counties will carry the figures to over 12,000, which is the State ticket of course. In the Legislature the Republicans have not fared as well. There is no particular change to note from the report of this morning on this head, the Senate being a tie upon reports received to-night and the Assembly nearly so.

"The doctors said my wife had consumption," said Lindsey's Blood Searcher, and she has better health than ever." G. H. Hubbard, Hampden, Ohio.

THE WILLIAMS BROTHERS.

Arrest of One of the Gang Near Grand Island, Nebraska.

OMAHA, Nov. 9.—A Republican special from Grand Island says: "Sheriff Killan, of this county, was called upon at a late hour Tuesday night to proceed into the country about two miles south of this city to arrest two men who were making themselves obnoxious to a farmer's family. The farmer said they represented themselves to be hunters from Hastings, but they carried Winchester rifles, and being otherwise heavily armed, he thought something wrong. Sheriff Killan, with a deputy proceeded to the farmer's house about 5 o'clock Wednesday morning and found the men in bed. He asked them to get up and dress, as he wished to speak to them. Killan saw at a glance that they resembled Ed and Lon Maxwell, alias Williams, the notorious Peppin county, Wisconsin, murderers. They both drew on their pants and boots, Alonzo exclaiming himself a minute while he stepped outside. While he had gone Killan grappled with Ed, and with the assistance of the farmer and a son, threw him to the floor, and narrowly escaped being shot by him. They got his revolver away from him, and held him to the floor, while Killan endeavored to handcuff him, but Ed gave a regular Indian war-whoop, calling Lon in. Killan stepped outside the door to stop Lon, and saw him running toward him with just in time to escape the shot. He then went inside and instructed his deputy to guard the door with his double-barreled shot-gun. As he did so, Lon stuck his head inside, when the deputy pulled on him, but the cap missed him, which move scared off Lon, who ran away without a coat or hat, and hid in the grass. Killan then secured Ed, and went to look for Lon, but it was hard to find any trace of him. Killan then brought Ed Maxwell to Grand Island, where he now lies in the county jail, awaiting the coming of the sheriff of Peppin county, Wis., who has telegraphed he would be here on the first train. A posse immediately started out after Lon, and have been out up to this hour (9 p. m.), and have been unable to find him.

BIG FIRES.

AUSTIN, Nov. 9.—The State Capitol was burned to ashes. Loss $300,000. The archives of the Republic of Texas, battle-flags, and Alamo monument were destroyed. Incendiarianism is supposed to be the cause. There is great excitement.

GRAND HAVEN, Mich., Nov. 9.—This afternoon fire broke out in Sisson & Lilley's mill yard, Spring Lake, and burned 9,000,000 feet of lumber recently sawed for Kelley, Rathbone & Co., Chicago, valued at $250,000. Insured for $100,500 in thirty-nine companies.

PATTI'S APPEARANCE.

New York, Nov. 9.—Steinway hall was fairly filled to-night by an exceedingly fashionable audience to greet Adelina Patti on her return to this country. Many musical celebrities were present, including Campanini and others of the opera. On coming on the stage to render her first cavatina before an American audience, after an absence of twenty years, Patti received a most enthusiastic greeting which was more heartily repeated from Travolta, "Al Farse Elui." She gave an encore "Coming Through the Rye." Her singing of "Home, Sweet Home," was one of the principal triumphs of the evening. She was called out four times. Patti also sang selections from Dinorah and Lombardi, and was obliged to give encores to each. The audience grew more and more enthusiastic, and the evening closed with the most hearty re-establishment of Adelina Patti in the admiration of New York. She was ably supported by Salvini, Nicolini, and Castellari and Hochenschild.

A VESSEL BURNED.

St. JOSEPH, Mich., November 9.—About 6 o'clock this evening, a vessel or steamboat was seen on fire in the lake north of this place. The blaze was seen very distinctly for thirty minutes. A tug will be sent out from here. It looks to be about fifteen miles off.

SHEBOYGAN, Nov. 9.—A large fire on Lake Michigan, east-southeast of Sheboygan, a distance of fifteen or twenty miles, was discovered by the life-boat crew at early dusk this evening, and at this hour, 9 p. m., is plainly visible. Some marine craft is evidently on fire. It is on the Buffalo course, and may be a passenger boat or steam barge. Owing to the high wind no assistance can be furnished by the life-boat crew.

MILWAUKEE, Nov. 9.—Captain Chester, of the propeller Philadelphia, reports that he saw the light of a burning vessel while he was off Racine, and is of the opinion that it was a propeller, because of the bright light.

A fortune awaits Dr. C. R. Sykes, of 169 Madison St., Chicago, if he was not so utterly opposed to advertising his "Sore Cure for catarrh" and "Atmospheric Insulator," but he says they need no advertising.

the entire night were pulled through all night, and no serious results followed.

The rumor that Clara Louise Kellogg was soon to marry a millionaire or rather, a man who is worth several millions, was freely spread about here, during her recent visit; and it was further claimed that the gentleman in question was here and attended the concert as well as in adjacent places, paying his money each time for the chance to see and hear the charming singer, who was soon to be his.

There has been such a lively wagging of tongues over this bit of romance, that it is well to give the other side. It is said that Miss Kellogg, in talking with a lady friend here, stoutly denied the truth of any such rumors, saying that she thought too much of her music, to give it up, and she had no thought of marrying and retiring from the stage, or in fact of marrying at all. She did not deny that she was being courted by a persistent admirer, who followed her from place to place, but claimed that she was proof against such assaults, and was not ready yet to yield her hand to any man.

If Adam had had a game of "fifteen" played in his mind at an early period of his existence, the whole course of history might have been materially altered for the better, and if his illness, indigestion, sick headache or dyspepsia were unknown, SPRING BLOSSOM would not be needed. Price 50 cents, trial bottles 10 cents.
